RAID REVEALS 5 GAL. STEAL IN OPERATION IN HIGH STREET CELLAR

Federal Enforcement Agent Robert Church and a squad of local police discovered a still in operation in the cellar of a building at No. 88 High street about 10 o'clock Monday night. Gabriel Romanofski, occupant of the building, who was charged with operating the still, was summoned to appear before U. S. Commissioner Earl Matthews this (Tuesday) morning.

The officers went to the building shortly before 10 o'clock and were admitted by Romanofski. In the cellar of the building the officers found the still, five gallon type, going full blast over an oil stove. Besides the still the officers seized 20 gallons of mash and a gallon of moonshine. The still and moonshine were taken to police headquarters.

In the raiding party were Agent Church, Officers Patrick Murphy, John Dombroski, Hugh McAvoy and Patrick Shahan.

Romanofski is also facing a breach of the peace charge in the city court this (Tuesday) morning. He had some trouble with a boy Monday and was summoned to court by the local police Monday night.

WOMAN'S SKILL FRACTURED

IN AN AUTOBIOGRAPHIC ACCIDENT. Mrs. William L. Robinson, 31 Old Lyme is in critical condition at the Lawrence and Memorial Associated hospital in New London, having a fractured skull as the result of a collision of automobiles on the highway at Old Lyme, at about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

An operation was performed Monday in an effort to relieve the pressure on the brain. Mrs. Robinson was unconscious since the time of the accident.

Mr. Robinson, who is a prominent agriculturist, the car and its contents were crushed and bruised, but is not seriously hurt. The Robinson car was turned completely over and was considerably damaged.

The Robinsons were returning to their home in Old Lyme and when descending Lord's Hill, which has highway enough for four or five cars to pass, collided with a car going up the hill driven by Ernest S. Ely of Old Lyme.

Mr. Ely summoned a passing automobile in which he and others placed the injured woman and she was taken to the office of Dr. Ely in Old Lyme. He advised her removal to the hospital.

Mr. Robinson and his wife are among the best known members of the Old Lyme artist colony. Mrs. Robinson before her marriage was Miss Lois E. Ball of Malden, Mass. Mr. Robinson studied art in Boston, in France and in Holland. He has instructed at the Maryland Institute, Baltimore, the Drexel Institute and the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia and at Teachers College, Columbia University. He is represented in many important collections and received honors at the Paris, Buffalo St. Louis and Panama exhibitions.

New Haven.—The New Haven democrats and a great many New Haven republicans believe Mayor David E. Fitzgerald will be his party's candidate for governor.

Repairs are speedily progressing on the Tupper avenue bridge. The street has been treated to a top dressing of finely crushed rock, and sand, to which will be added oil. This ought to result in a better road than many of the other streets in town.

NORWICH VISITORS ALONG RHODE ISLAND SHORE

(Special to The Bulletin.) Providence, R. I., Aug. 14.—The gay midsummer season at the shore places along Narragansett Bay is now at high meridian with a prospect of remaining there for two or three weeks, at least. Notwithstanding the cloudy cool weather it has been many years since there has been so active a summer as this or has witnessed so many new comers. The increased use of the automobiles is especially responsible for the larger number of visitors here from the eastern section of Connecticut enabling the resorts and hotels in a few hours time.

POETRY

THE OLD-TIMER. Here I am, an old 'un, a-sittin' on a stump, A-smokin' and a-thinkin' of the days gone by: Watchin' the steamers a-comin' in or goin' out, Pounin' the river and a-burrin' of the Lord: What a change has come about, thinks I.

Since I was a young chap—as trim as a proper sailorman As ever rowed a block or laid a hand upon a clew— Comin' in from Calais' up this very river.

But cleaner then, and clearer, and the sky more blue In the old Albia clipper, battered, weary, overdue.

Mary, when I come ashore, to'd how she watched her staidin' Roundin' to at anchorage—her spars agin' the wall— 'Like a fowl from a long flight come Sayin' Mary: 'to'd her wings and smugle down upon her nest—' Drop our hook and furl our canvas— to'd her wings and go to rest.

Mary, she's gone; and the old Albia is doin' shameful duty as a sand-barge now. And me, the proper sailorman, well, I'm wharf watchman. A-sittin' here and stardin' at the water's edge and fow—

A-dreamin' of that Summer evening forty years ago— 'N. B. Patterson, Jr., in Adventure.

A SECOND INNOCENCE. With thy strong tide of beauty I must go, Where my love leads I follow in her train. And all my hope is that I sing for her Fresh songs whose breath is April's air.

There, with the flowers and butterflies, I meet thee, O my love, in the garden. That humble more the more their blossoms please. We'll live close from this, vain world's pretense. Till we acquire a second innocence.

We'll shun all human scandal, though our words May offend the private life of birds And prying into every move and sound, Surprised to find before his blossom's foot— W. H. Davies, in 'The Nation and Athenaeum.'

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"Dolly is a pretty shrewd girl." "What way?" "Well, she can even tell when the doorbell has an engagement ring to it." —Florida Times-Union.

"That mare I just imported," said the millionaire horse owner, proudly, "once won the derby." "H-m-m," commented his friend, after a close inspection of the animal. "English or brown?"

Your daughter, sir, has referred me to you." "I have nothing to do with her loss affair."

"This is about a millinery bill for $250," said a City Journal. The ambitious wife of a millionaire banker was giving a dinner party, and in the course of the meal she noticed that her husband did not talk to any of their smart guests. After it was over and she had an opportunity she whispered to him, angrily, "Why don't you talk?"

"What's the good?" replied the banker, contemptuously. "These ain't one of them as knows a thing about leather." —Rural Magazine.

Muchweird (giving a sad smile as he thinks of his year-old son)—"Not everybody is a genius, but day after day was devoted to him, angrily, 'Why don't you talk?'"

"What's the good?" replied the banker, contemptuously. "These ain't one of them as knows a thing about leather." —Rural Magazine.

MASTIN'S VITAMON TABLETS

Now Used by Millions As A Natural, Quick and Easy Way To Help Increase Weight and Energy

So remarkable is the action of MASTIN'S Vitamin Tablets in helping to increase the nourishing, health-giving power of what you eat that you can fully realize how MASTIN'S Vitamin Tablets help to feed and nourish the shrunken tissues, build up wasted nerve force, strengthen the entire digestive and intestinal tract and help put on firm, solid flesh in the places where weakness and emaciation are often found.

MASTIN'S Vitamin Tablets contain all three vitamins, true or natural, and there is no doubt but what they are bred in the salt water and come up in the fresh streams during the summer months. They experience no difficulty in climbing the dams along the route. As long as there is the smallest trickle of water coming down the rocks, they manage to wiggle up into the stream above, but they can't climb the dam if the water is not running over it.

Authorities on fish give out the information that all fish go once a year to the ocean to mate, and that the young come into the fresh water as soon as they are old enough. No explanation is offered as to how the fish in landlocked bodies of water get out to go to the ocean. It is known that an eel will die on dry earth, even in slight of water, as he cannot move unless the earth or grass is wet. The New York Aquarium states that this is one of the mysteries of fish life that cannot be explained. Eels have been found early in the morning ten miles from water, and the opinion of those at the Aquarium is that they do their traveling while the dew is on the grass.
